

How do I register for Module 1 or Module 20 ?

General information about M1 and M20

- the basic training courses for experimenters.
- Module 1 rodent course in German or English
- Module 20 non-rodent course only in English

Registration for module 1 or module 20

These modules are composed of two parts of at least 20 hours each

Theoretical part			Practical part
M1 M20	E-Learning Platform Lectures	Exam	M1	3 days
			M20	1 day	1 day	1 day

The theoretical part

The date indicated in the registration system corresponds to the date of the examination. Please save the dates in your diary.

You will be given access to our e-learning platform as soon as our staff has validated your registration for the theoretical part. You will have access to this e-learning platform at any time and will be able to take the theoretical part at your convenience.

You must complete all the lectures which will be validated by the examination.

The practical part

LTK Module 1: the practical part is a block of three days in a row. Choose a block of three days in the registration system. The dates of the practical part are indicated in the registration system. Please save the dates in your diary.

LTK Module 20: the practical part consists of three separate days. You must register for three separate days that correspond to your species of interest.

If you are working with a single species, choose three days corresponding to that animal species. Please note that fish and Xenopus are considered as "aquatic animals". In this case choose two fish days and one Xenopus.

If you work with several species, please contact Dr. Maike Heimann (maike-heimann@ethz.ch) before registering for the practical part.

The theoretical part is labelled with EXAM (green colour) in our registration system.

The practical part is labelled with PRACTICAL TRAINING (blue colour) in our registration system.

If possible, complete the theoretical part before the practical part.

Important information for the theoretical part: our elearning platform currently only offers theory in English. From the beginning of May, we will be able to provide the German version of the theoretical part. If you do not speak/understand English, please choose a date for the EXAM theoretical part from June onwards.

VERY IMPORTANT : if you already had an education (for instance abroad), please contact the authorities to ask for recognition of this education. The authorities will inform you about the part of the education you have to complete in one of our courses. Please indicate in remarks of the registration form for the corresponding part/s (theoretical and/or practical part) which topics you have to complete. If nothing is mentioned in remarks in the registration form, we consider that we complete the full part of the chosen session/s.

If the authorities ask you to complete only the theoretical part "ethics", "legislation" and "3Rs", please register only in the module EGA.
